Pris 32(a) 42-1

Sir,

I have the honour to state that in anticipation of the sanction of Government in this behalf, I have arranged for a professional caterer (Mr. B.T. Ramiah of the University Union Restaurent, Bangalore) to supply food for the persons detained under the defence of India Rules (as applicable to Mysore) in the Mysore and Serangapatam Jails and propos very shortly to extend the same arrangement in respect of the detenues of the Central Jail, Bangalore and other Jails in the State where such persons have been detained in any considerable number. I consider that this arrangement will, for the reasons stated below, prove of ~~administrative~~ administrative convenience in the Jails concerned.

In the matter of the diet prescribed at present for detenues a scale of ration articles to be supplied, fixing the quantities to be given per head was sanctioned in the past. It has been found that where the number of detenues in one Institution is large and where the detenues do their own cooking, this arrangement is susceptable of misuse, as the detenues often prepare sweetmeats and such other luxurious articles of diet from rations (such as wheat, soji, sugar, etc.) meant for other purposes. At one time it was thought that this difficulty could be solved by employing a number of brahmin cooks who whould pre-pare all meals without aid from the detenues, but such persons were not available in anything like the number required, and even if they were engaged there would be no gurantee that they would continue in service as long as they were required. The arrangement now made with the caterer will do away with any such contingencies as a fixed menu has been given to him in this respect, and he will supply only cooked meals to the detenues. Moreover he is a caterer of sufficient experience and standing to command necessary service and facilities not only at Headquarters but in the mofussil, and this will ensure a uniformity in diet to all detenues in the several Jails in the State.

There are also other distinct advantageous from the new arrangement. There will be a savings to Government in respect of the capital expenditure on cooking vessels, plates, cups, et which are now required on a considerable scale for cooking and serving food to the detenues. The caterer has undertaken to supply all such vessels during the period of his contract. Moreover, the new arrangement will relieve the already over-work Jail staff of the responsibility in the distribution of ration articles to the detenues. In the Central Jail (where the number of detenues, now exceeds 350) this distribution entails a deal of care and accounting. I may also mention here that the contractor for the supply of ration articles to the Central Jail, has represented that he would be very thankful if other arrangements could be made in respect of the detenues as he has been hard put to it to supply the necessary articles in their behalf, especially when the numbers to be provided for have increased considerably and at very short notice. He has found it particularly difficult to cope with the supplies of milk, butter, curds etc., of which very large quantities are now required.

It will be noted from the Menu fixed by me in this connection (copy enclosed for favour of perusal) that a wholesome and yet very simple dietary has been catered for, the food being of the type which most of the detenues must have been accustomed to have previously.

I have the honour to be
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

Inspector-General of Prisons.
